

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention relates to an isolated polynucleotide having a polynucleotide sequence which codes for the ppgK gene, and a host-vector system having a coryneform host bacterium in which the ppgK gene is present in attenuated form and a vector which carries at least the ppgK gene according to SEQ ID No 1, and the use of polynucleotides which comprise the sequences according to the invention as hybridization probes

0960733-092404
104260-02/09660